

Shenggen Fan

Agricultural economist with extensive experience in developing strong connections at the highest levels with a wide range of influential stakeholders, and has engaged widely on issues related to agriculture, food, health, climate change, natural resource management and information technologies. Now member of the CGIAR Systems Board, Dean at the Beijing Agricultural University, member of GLOPAN and various other high-level panels related to food systems and food security. Previously spent over 20 years with the International Food Policy Research Institute (IFPRI), including as Director General for the ten-year period until his departure in December 2019.

<https://www.cgiar.org/shenggen-fan/>

For further detail see: Shenggen Fan - CGIAR and Shenggen Fan - Google Scholar

Email: s.fan@cau.edu.cn